

Jeremy Bradley, MD

Physician | Jeremy Bradley MD, PSC

Dr. Jeremy L Bradley graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1991 and the University of Kentucky College of Medicine in 1995. He completed a three-year Family Medicine residency program at Trover Clinic Foundation in Madisonville before settling in Owensboro with his family. Dr. Bradley is board certified in Family Medicine. He has obtained fellowship status with the American Academy of Family Physicians (FAAFP). Dr. Bradley serves as a gratis faculty member for both the University of Kentucky and University of Louisville Colleges of Medicine, teaching medical students. He also is an honorary staff physician at Vanderbilt University Hospital and is on staff at Owensboro Health Hospital. Dr. Bradley's clinic is recognized as a NCQA (National Committee for Quality Assurance) Patient Centered Medical Home (PCMH). Dr. Bradley is a 5-star rated physician by Health Grades and his office has been recognized by Anthem, Humana, United Healthcare, and Community Care Networks' benchmarks for quality and efficiency by receiving the Bridges to Excellence Awards for Chronic Disease Management and Physician Office Systems.