

Stephanie Clouser

Data Scientist Kentuckiana Health Collaborative

Stephanie Clouser is the data scientist for Kentuckiana Health Collaborative, a non-profit organization that works with key healthcare stakeholders in the community for better health outcomes and delivery in Louisville, Southern Indiana and Kentucky. In her current role, Stephanie fulfills the data needs of KHC, including completing regional and statewide physician quality measurement reports, which KHC has distributed to physicians since 2006 and publicly reported since 2012.

Stephanie earned her bachelor's degree in economics and communication from Bellarmine University in Louisville, Kentucky, in 2010. In 2015, she completed her master's in analytics, also from Bellarmine. While working on her master's, Stephanie held an internship at Norton Healthcare, which sparked her interest in healthcare and eventually led to her position at KHC.
