Faced with rising and unsustainable health care costs, Employers' Forum of Indiana set out to help employers contract for hospital provider services that offer the best value (best quality at best cost). They commissioned a first-of-its-kind, purchaser-led initiative using claims data from 2015 to 2017 to publicly compare hospital prices relative to a Medicare.

National Employer Overall Hospital Pricing Relative to Medicare

204% Inpatient - 293% Outpatient

Kentucky Employer Overall Hospital Pricing Relative to Medicare

142% Inpatient - 245% Outpatient

National Key Takeaways

1. Employers pay significantly more than Medicare for the same services, sometimes reaching 500% more of what Medicare pay.
2. There is wide variation in pricing between and within states with little correlation to quality.
3. Pricing trends are going up.
4. Employers should consider new contracting strategies.
5. More employers are needed to participate in the next iteration of the study, planned for January 2020.

Kentucky Key Takeaways

1. Kentucky employers pay more than Medicare pays for the same services, but well below the national average from other states.
2. Few Kentucky hospitals have high quality, with only 16% of hospitals with above average quality, compared to 45% of hospitals in the study.
3. There is wide variation in pricing in Kentucky, ranging from 166% to 543% more than Medicare, with pricing trending down.
4. More employers are needed to participate in the next iteration of the study, planned for January 2020.

STUDY 1.0 September 2017
