

Amanda Faulkner (she/her)

Corporate Health and Well-being Program Lead | LG&E and KU Energy

Amanda has been an HR professional for over a decade. Her expertise includes benefit administration and design, well-being programming and population health management. In addition to leading LG&E and KU's Healthy for Life program, Amanda has managed the Family Assistance Program, statewide health fairs, flu shots, mammograms, and tobacco-cessation programs. Amanda holds extensive experience in health and well-being strategy and integration. She works with the company's safety specialists to ensure the safety, health and well-being culture is incorporated throughout the organization. Amanda has led multiple health and well-being RFPs that help LG&E and KU continue to grow its best-practice health and well-being program. Amanda is an active member with the Kentuckiana Health Collaborative (KHC), involved with their measurement core subcommittee and worksite addiction group, and Kentucky Chamber's opioid task force.
